FYI to any fans of the show or those who may be interested in seeing it, the second season is currently available for instant watching through Netflix, for those who are able to stream to your TV.

I know, you're saying, "why would I want to start with the second season?" Well, with this particular show, the second season was REALLY the first regular season. Season 1 took the form of 4 made for TV movies that aired on Showtime in the U.S. under the name "Tales From A Parallel Universe", and they weren't very good. The necessary backstory is given in the first episode of the regular series, and trust me, it's all you really need to see from those original movies.
