

Forum: Challenges & Duels

Topic: September Challenge

Subject: Re: September Challenge

Posted by: matrixblur

Posted on: 2004/9/9 12:40:15

It occurs to me that when such an obscure reference like Captain Caveman is imagined by more than one member succinctly, it is time to quietly get up, walk into the kitchen, and wrap my head in tin foil.

Where is the mind control device!?! It can't be JR's Jamie, thats too new. BB's fluttering wings?

Winter's subliminals?

AHAH! Found it! Cereal Killer's bouncing icon!

You think to subvert the Prophet Blur?!

You cannot have me!

you cannot...

you..

hhmmm.... bouncy....

I really wanted to accept this months challenge, with:

Cousin Itt as Captain Caveman!

(yes, I know technically the time period doesn't match, but the addams family was popular well into the eighties. besides, the similarities twixt the two were just too perfect)

My second choice was Cheryl Ladd as Penelope Pitstop.

But alas, due to work, and upcoming responsibilities, I am denied my simple diversions for a time, and cannot participate (which is just as well; I can finish working on my mind-control blocking devise... you think you know Roswell Porn...you have NO IDEA!)

I thought I would mention them, so anyone having trouble thinking of a character could use one of these. But it is clear that you are all under the same mind control, and for most, it is already too late. While I cannot start any new projects, I will continue to monitor the site for any errant threads of subjectivity and eradicate those who would see our wills bent to their twisted design (BB, Max, I'm lookin in your direction).

So move over DD, whilst I take a seat up here in the nosebleed section.

Forever Vigilant!