You can get Total Recall on DVD, there's nothing wrong with the movie, they could just re-release it in 3D. I don't see the point of remaking movies that were perfectly good and aren't that old.

personally i think its just so they can see how much of an upgrade they can provide the movie using CG. think about it..only big budget movies that used huge FX have been re-made. the others they just re-release.
