I can edit, and replace images on Photobucket -isn't the galleries here for finished works not works in progress? And I Left images up there for over a year with little or no responses on some.

Yes I have a valid account though not gold - just trying to acutally get opinions / suggestions which I don't usually get there

And this is unfinished more a pet project

Also in a forum like this I can show some new projects and stuff and get opinions before finished
