Thanks, Winterhawk, for including us non-artists in the bunch (I couldn't draw my way out of a paper bag).

As to the handle, it all started about a million years ago when I used to go into the chat rooms. I picked Logan because it was rather vague to non-comic people, and that it could mean anything (Logan's Run, Logan Airport in Boston, etc). But of course when it all came down to it, that scrappy little Canuck was a major influence, and could keep the undesirables in line. Also, it was cool to walk into a chat room, and see 30-40 people shout "Logan" like I was walking into Cheers.
