Wolf, you are one the members here that are an example to us all. It was you that really made me join this place when I realized that even you not being an artist per se, your comments on the artists images, always with some advice or joke, or anything that made them feel that someone was wacthing their work.

To me it was you and bhm1954, who also had a nice word to leave to the artists, that really show me what this site is all about and I thank you for that.

I'm trying to make something special for you.
