Alright... I just heard from Wolf. He is making progress in leaps and bounds with his cancer. SO, lets keep up the positive thoughts and prayers. He said that is Doc said that at the rate he is fighting his cancer that he could have 4-5 years left in that beat up body of his. But he also said that when "He" is ready for you... he will take you. SOOOO...

At least he gets to spend another Christmas with his family.

That is, of course, if the world doesn't come to an abrupt end tomorrow.

Has anyone heard from New Zealand?
