I liked it. It had a lot of the elements from the "Earth One" graphic novels that came out.

I loved how it did for Lois what no other movie did before: made her the intelligent reporter she was famous for being.

The special effects were great and the camera techniques they used were in my opinion reminiscent of what was used in FireFly and was like paying Homage to that show.

One minor thing that bugged me, and this is only a personal opinion, Zod, made mention of a time unit using Earth standards and not Kryptonian
