What I really liked about this movie is that they did it and away I felt they should have done the 'Batman' reboot, and that is that they did parts of his origin and back-story as flashbacks. And I equally like that they still had him learning about his powers after he put on the costume. Over all I enjoy the movie greatly. I saw it in 'IMAX 3D' will be going back to see it again in the regular screen to look for things I didn't see before.
