

Forum: HeroMorph site questions & Suggestions

Topic: Posting Videos: any Vimeo?

Subject: Re: Posting Videos: any Vimeo?

Posted by: pijon

Posted on: 2014/5/22 14:55:56

Quote:

Erotijoy wrote:

Hi all. I have just restarted my render engines resulting in a return to one of my favourite 3D destinations: Heromorph. I noticed on my profile page a video section. I only have one video on the net: "Bambi meets Godzilla 2K11" which is on Vimeo and not YouTube [vimeo.com/25696452]

I was unable to upload the Vimeo link on my profile page.

So I have two questions:

1. Can you upload Vimeo video links or only YouTube videos? and
2. Where on the site can you find/view peoples videos, anyway?

Thanks.

I am by no means an expert on such matters but I will try to address these as best I can.

1. I don't think this would be a problem. At your Vimeo video, there should be a "share icon" (paper airplane?) on the upper right. If you click on that, it should give you a link code. Copy and paste that into the videos/add favorite video section of your HM profile and you should be all set.
2. I believe the HM network/profiles section is where you might find folks' videos but I don't think many members have videos posted under their profiles (besides me ). There is also a forum thread Screw the 70's... these are just funny videos where videos are posted.

... BTW, really enjoyed your vid! A lot of fun, a nice twist on a classic, good animation and a slick production.