yeah i heard about this and said 'WTF?'. Thank God i don't read comics as diligently as I used to or I'd really be pissed! While I personally have no issue with the Thor issue since he's not magically being transformed into a female. Others have wielded the power of Thor in the past [Beta Ray Bill, Thunderstrike]. But I really have an issue with making the Falcon into Captain America. Jeez. Has Falcon done enough to try and get out of the shadow of Cap already? Now you have to place even more burden on him by trying to make him live up to standards that he can't possibly fulfill. Don't get me wrong its not a racial thing [obviously since I myself am black
] But there should only be one Captain America and that's Steve Rogers. I hated ever other version from the sub during the 50's to the Bucky/Winter Soldier attempt. I don't see why Marvel feels a need to do this especially if they think it's the socially correct thing to do...No one is gonna accept Sam Wilson as Cap, especially me!
