Man, I must be getting old.

The other day in the shoutbox, I mentioned that we could have a little contest. At the time it was just an Idea and I completely forgot about it until this morning, when I recieved an entry to the contest in my e-mail.

I figured I should tell everyone else, if it was going to be a contest.

The contest is to create a banner for the download section. The banner needs to be the same size (468x60). You can create the banner anyway you want. If you use art from the site make sure you ask the original artist. Once you have finished your banner, e-mail it to me. I will post them and put up a poll and the winner will have the banner as part of the site. The due date will be Oct 16/04. Thanks for playing.
