not really cancelling the titles, just stop creation of any new mutants that could be used by Fox. Because any new character created in those comics would be allowed by Fox to use as they see fit in movies.

I remember reading that marvel had a directive to Kill off a couple x-men characters per year. They killed Wolverine last year and Deadpool is going to die this year. (Most likely because a new deadpool movie is planned.)

Marvel is so dumb. Selling the rights to X-Men is a bad enough move but to also sell the rights to the term 'mutant' is another. But they could always use non-x-men like they did with Quicksilver & Scarlet Witch and just retool their origins.
