My understanding is that they will not be making a marvel universe spiderman so they most likely will not be telling his origin again.

The biggest theory I have read is that he will appear as a character in the captian america 3:civil war movie. This movie will also have IronMan. Kinda makes sense since he was a big part of the civil war comic series.

I agree, I do not have faith in Sony pictures if they were handling the crossover movies, but I do have faith in the Marvel studios movies.

If they make an Amazing spiderman 3 from Sony, I most likely will skip that, but I will continue to see the Marvel studio films as they haven't screwed up yet.
