This is a side challenge for fun for everyone. I have posted an image Based on a game that was created years ago. I have left a few clues as to what it is.

The first person to correctly name the game either here or in the image, will get a free render from me of the character of their choosing.

Each day that goes by, I will post a solo image of one of the characters with another clue to the game. That clue could be a re-visioned part of the game or maybe a little bit of a character bio.

Have fun, Happy Hunting, and may the best person win!
