Still showing you how easy the Jinky Coloring Challenge is.

So next I lay out all my flat colors (well, most of 'em... you get the idea). I've kept my starting point colors and tried to work around them with other colors. Well, I did change the armor color but it's an easy fix at the early stage. The Flats could be considered a finished coloring job in some cases. You could win this contest and prize with just flats! But I'm not done. I've still got to add some light and dark to those tones to try and make them pop a bit more.
