I find this pop-up every ten seconds annoying.

Is there going to be a way a member can turn it off if we keep it?

Noted. If we decide to keep it, we will take that into consideration.

As even clicking on the "X" does not turn it off?

The "X" should close the pop-up (I dunno if we can call it that... It's more of a... Slide-in.), We tried it on several browser with no problem. Other than appear again on page reload (Like if you keep reloading a page to rise pageviews for example) or moving to another page.

Seems to come-up every ten seconds as you browse?

The Slide-In appear when scrolling down the page at some percentage from the top... Meaning that a shorter page, the slide will appear sooner and a bigger page it will take more scrolling until it appear.

But Please, take 10 seconds or less and vote in the poll above.
