My apologies for not as much submitting in 2017 as usual...I had a bunch of life stuff get in the way, and severe lack of time.

However, I have resolved most of it, and my New year's resolution is to post, comment, and participate more.

As for suggestions, I'll rattle the old brain bucket for ideas...

Meanwhile, I like the contests/challenges.

I remember such ones as line art, drawing, even specific topics from the past years. The DragonDack tribute contest was awesome.

But others such as the old Mission Impossible

or

Lady Heromorph's Challenge

or

Cover Flip

or

March Madness

might spark some ideas...

Reboots, or revamps of these might do something...

Or maybe an artist tribute/roast, in which we submitters try to duplicate, mimic or completely blast the style of a randomly chosen artist...or something like that (Stealing a bit from the Dragondack thing again)

meanwhile, I'll try to think of some more.

Damn! I didn't even remember some of those challenges/duels anymore.

Thank you for the links and ideas, much appreciated.

We might pick on some of those if we need to replace any on the planned schedule.
