I can't seem to log into the store. It tells me my password is incorrect and when I click forgot password I never received the password reset in my email.

I know how this sounds but did you had a HM store account? And it was working before?

Because I remember that it was necessary to register/open an account at the store.

If it was working before and not now, then must be something else...

We had some problems with the store some time ago but I thought they were all fixed by now...
