No one asked, but since I'm back I'll tell you where I was. We had a baby in 2008 and that made it very hard to keep up with the hobby. Then the MCU happened. I liked everything I was seeing on the movie screen way more than anything I was doing in Photoshop. I just lost the desire to manip. But when I heard Alison Brie was being sought for She-Hulk, it came back to me. I know I'm rusty, and I didn't devote hours to it like I used to, but I hope you guys like it.
