I see nobody missed me. In case anyone was wondering, I haven't really been around heromorph much. Haven't really done anything with art in over two years either. I just lost my inspiration and work leaves me mentally drained. It's hard dealing with idiots all the time.

I was trying to get back into the art. I wanted to. Friggin' longed for it. Trying to find my muse. And DW was helping me with that. Kept trying to give me ideas, sharing his ideas, and showing me his works in progress. His passing hit me pretty hard, so I guess I just kind of regressed back into that funk.
