I dipped out for a few months after my next computer died horribly... This time I ponied out the dough for more serious hardware and the money was totally worth it. So now I'm back and bit less active because I actually have art projects taking up most of my time but between DeviantArt, Facebook, and here I'm very active. I used run on Rendo and Daz but they got kinda flooded. Still I try to post here as often as I can... and I'm still writing though not as much. Working on a couple new comics so look forward to those coming here soon.
