My brain's running to the reverse of that. The more I think about it, the more I feel that adding a hot, sultry superheroine would be exactly the right thing to do to just about every ad campaign out there...and that's the only sort of thing my heart's ever into rendering.

I just can't think of an ad where a superheroine would be INapprorate.

So I'd like to withdraw my vote and shift to "Heroes out of History", as the next best thing.

Sorry.
