i preferred the team up. i thought the purpose of the crossover was to promote a well being between the sites, and NOT a competition. we already have enough competition between both sites, rather we admit it or not. a singles competition is what we have everyday at both sites. team c2f vs. team heromorph, we can team with artists at our respective sites anytime we want.

i prefer a crossover team up like last year, but it's whatever the masses decide.
