I like both Ideas. Both will give me a better understanding of how well I can do. The team up will/should allow for critiquing to help me improve, and make new friends in the process. This would be a one shot deal.

Where as the site vs site, could be a drawn out event, especialy if it is a bracket style event. if that were the case, would each contestant need to make a new entry for each bracket or would the one enrty be used through out the event?
