

Forum: Challenges & Duels

Topic: 2005 Crossover

Subject: So the betting's at five bits now, right?

Posted by: B

Posted on: 2004/12/31 13:10:28

Okay... we're doing another team-up. I think that's set.

To participate, folks, please sign up either here or at C2F. If anyone wants to invite an artist, they can do that... but then that artist has to sign up. I hadn't been thinking about deadlines, but Mike's 20p makes sense... the deadline for signing up is thus January 15.

People sign up as members of whichever site they feel they're more a part of. Anyone who posts at both can sign up as a floater, and we'll use you to even out the numbers.

We're not going to ban anyone... someone or other is guaranteed not to be able to make it on time, whatever we do, so there's really no point. But please, pretty please with sugar on top, only sign up if you're fairly sure you can meet the deadline. And I do think we (ie, those in charge) will be wanting an update on how you're doing a couple weeks before the ultimate deadline.

Once we hit the deadline for signing up, we split everyone into the rookie/cruiser/veteran rankings and pair people off. Then they go forth and team manip. And that's that.