And if I ever do decide to get around to fixing that, I'll prolly ask a mod to delete the old one.....

Which is another good point. If you have only a slight modification, ask a Moderator to swap it out for your original. You can even edit your original post description text to bump your pic back to the top and make note that you modded it.

Web space isn't infinite. If we start to run out of room, these duplicate posts are among the first to get the axe.
