Our thoughts and prayers are with Hope and Morgan. Let us know how things go. Hope is my partner and has been understanding with everything I've been thru recently, only fair I do the same

I just wanted to thank you for all your thoughts and prayers.

Morgan is at home resting now. Before he got released from the hospital, the doctor told him that it was a good thing that he came in when he did because he had death bed pneumonia. He's on antibiotics for the next 7 days. He's improving and breathing alot better and not coughing as much.

So Taz, he said to finish your part up, send it to him and he'll do the rest. We still have a week to finish up.

Thayne, I've been working on mine too. If you have yours done, you can send it to me, so I can see what else I need to do to mine to go along with yours.
