I'm not trying to be a pain in the you know where. But if you are posting work for a challenge. isn't it supposed to state that fact in the title.

Nope. What if you lose?

WinterHawk:

The unspoken rules for the monthly challenges:

Posting: You post the picture in the same gallery (and sub-gallery) that you would if it was a non-challenge picture.

Due Date: The due date for a monthly challenge picture is the last day of the month, unless otherwise posted in the monthly rules. Normally entries can be posted anytime during the month. Make sure to indicate in the picture title or description that the picture is for the monthly challenge. Quote:
