I would have to agree with optical, the poll hasn't been up for very long. also a lot of members do not bother with any part of the site other then the gallery and people can vote on each picture individually (and the poll you only get one vote) and people can look at a image multiple times, I personally will look at an image more then once to read the new coments and or to make comments myself. so The numbers you are quoting are a little off anyway.
