After a short discussion (okay, me whining in the shoutbox), I figured there are some who jumped right on this task, and some still scratchin your heads. And then there are yet those who are saying, "Galactus who?"

If it helps, Think of what a good little herald for Galactus would need in order to perform his duties.

Winterhawk suggested 2 elements. One, they would have to be able to survive in space. Makes sense. Two, they would have to travel vast distances in a very short amount of time, so probably they would have to have a lot of frequent flyer miles.

other nessessities:

copy of HHGTTG

a compass

American Express

extra pair of underwear (poopman is still at large)

salt (some planets just don't have that right flavor)

and xxxxxxxx-large Tums. for the big guys delicate constitution towards pollution

No, repeat NO, toilet paper. There are some things a herald will just not do.

As to the rest, that is up to you. Be creative, have fun, and show us what a 'cosmic' hero looks like!!!
