OOps, i forgot to tell you dk. i got ahold of everyone and told them your idea and we are going to have a white background and we are going to put everyone's logo above their manip's head. So far all the people that are finished i have peiced together with the base pic and placed their logo's above their manip's head. and there will also be something on the bottom. but i will e-mail you guys on what that will be as i would like some feedback and i want it a secret from the rest of the heromorphians that might read this thread.
