is it ok for us to have extra team members

Max, Webgeek, DK, and Darque..... 4 teams..... somebody decide.....

Well, Dk said he was going to let me know if he wanted to be a part of the call to arms by the end of the week. He wanted to take part but other things were keeping him away from doing so.

He hasn't contacted me so I must assume things haven't worked out for him to Join the call to arms.

Darque has already been allowed into the call to arms.

Webgeek only asked to be an alternate and did not ask to be added to a team (at least he never made a post or asked me)

Max, I don't have a problem with you joining but you will need to find a team (you must ask the team leader, not just a team member) that will have you, as they may have already picked there base pictures and started working.

Please reply to this thread or the one at Bold so we know what is going on. Does anyone have room for Max on there team.

My team has been all been contacted, We have our picture plan and a couple of us have started, I am looking for the last of the base pictures and will be sending a third update to my team shortly.
