yeah that message in the adult was indeed a wake up call..

for my part my model is almost finished, finally had some time this weekend to work on her (yea, if I had a dime for every time I've said that!) My only concern is the background...

she's garbed in white and with a white background she looks but will look better with something (anything) else behind her...

(of course once she's in front of a darker color, all the little imperfections, things that looked in on white, will come out, but 'c'est la vie'.

Okay, should have mine done by tomorrow
