Well, everyone the final manip has been sent to me. now i just have to put it all together slap a background on. And it is done. Look for it this weekend, as i am fairly busy with work for the next 2 days.

O and by the way guy's, we kick ass. the picture looks great with out the background.

If any one wants to do something like this again let me know, i would love to be a part of another group project.
