i am game. for whatever. let me know

If we are going to do photo #1 then i will take the last one on the right and if we are going to do photo #2 then i will take the hot little number first on the left. now i hope that the due date will be close to the end of the month because i have three manips that i am currently working on and i would like to finish them up. but who ever wants to run this one. give me some details. are there going to be any conditions, rules. Did you want me to be the man in charge again? anyway, let me know.

We could have a competition. two projects going on at the same time with two teams and two team leaders. and the finished products could be posted on the same day. both teams would follow the same basic rules.
