I think this time it will be a PG (non-adult) rated venture. Mostly because "the hot babes" are all covered up and the 2 should follow the same theme. And that will give me more time to work on the picture because i can do it when my kids are around after i put up a censor layer.

Brick, gouge (sorry, lost yours), and Sleepenemy i can't see your e-mail address's. you my have to go in to your profiles and check the box to allow other member to see e-mail address or send me a e-mail if you don't want every one to have it. my e-mail address is visible in my profile or click the button at the bottom of this message for my address.

we should call our characters so we don't have any duplicates on the same picture. I don't see a problem with it if the same character is done on the different pictures. we can keep them secret from the rest of heromorph if you want by using e-mail or post private messages here.

looks like we only need one more.
