

Forum: Movies & TV

Topic: Batman Begins (First Portion Spoiler Free)

Subject: Batman shoulda Began here a lonnnnggg time ago!

Posted by: StarChild

Posted on: 2005/6/30 21:07:44

I thought it was the best Comic to movie adaptation of Batman I have ever seen. The most important thing I looked for when I watched it was how believable the lead was. I'll have to say that this was the most gritty and at the same time mysterious version I have ever seen on the screen. He was actually very believable for a guy with pointy ears and a cape. The chase scene in the batmobile was my favorite, as was his interrogation of the police detective in the rain, the scene where he calls the bats was good...and...oh heck the whole thing was good. The only thing I didn't like was his connection to Ras Al Ghul. But other than that it was off-da-chain. I've watched it twice and probably will watch it again this weekend.